

References to the Yogyakarta Principles at the UPR

Brazil

Intervention of Norway: We recognize that the construction of a democratic and rights-based society is a complex process requiring both political will and time. Thanks to demonstrated political will, Brazil has also made many important achievements when it comes to the implementation of human rights principles. ... Brazil's leadership on issues of sexual orientation and gender identity, particularly its national program 'Brazil without Homophobia' and its strong support for the Yogyakarta Principles is another example of 'best practices'.